

NATIVE

The Future of Tokenized Community Economics

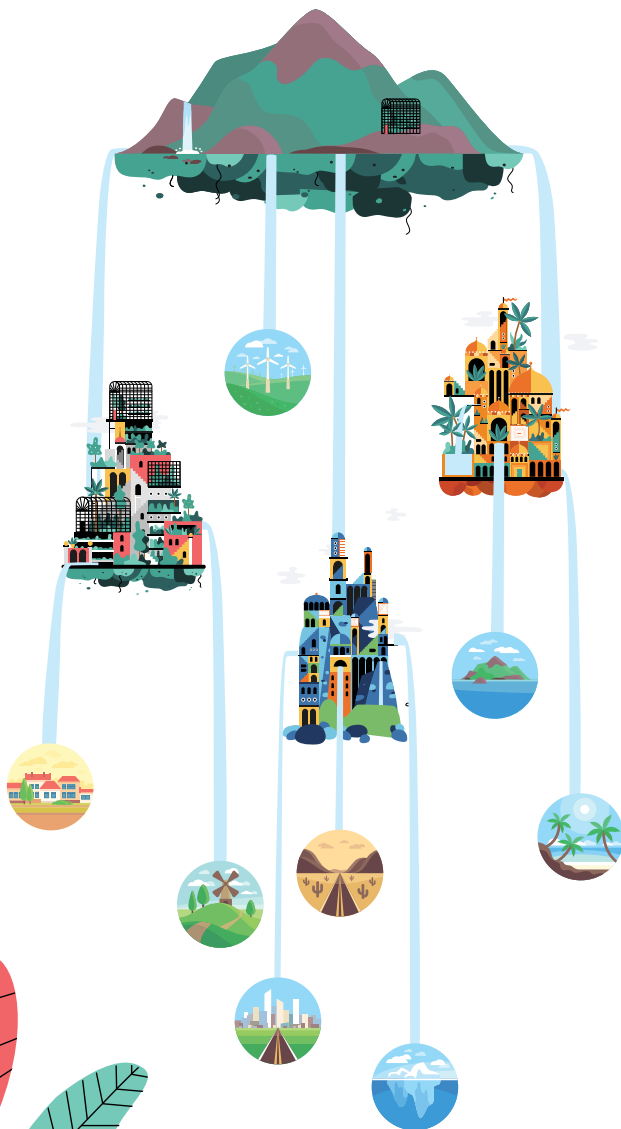

Build your Tribe around a common interest

Generate your Tribe Tokens & build your local economy

Raise capital and support community projects

Join your Tribe

Build a community around a common interest. Your Tribe works together to raise capital and fund projects in which they collectively benefit from. Decision making power is distributed to Contributors who directly vote on proposals.

Tribe Token

Tribe Tokens are local currencies that grow as more members join and become active. When a Contributor finds their Tribe, they stake Native Tokens to become a member, which are split between the Local Reserve and the Development Fund.

Development Fund

The Tribe can lend and spend from the development fund to execute goals. The amount of NT in the Development Fund, and the utilization of it, represents one component of the Tribe's value. In other words, the Development Fund powers the economic system.

Native Token

Native Token is the base currency of Native. It is the way value transfer is represented within the Network. Native Token holders are liquidity providers and support the network through its continued growth and contributions from Tribes.
